Overall
Score:
2.7/5

- ❏ Key Insight: Adding specific textual details (which scene, what exact words, precise actions) is the pathway to reaching better analytical conclusions and higher scores on both Component Presence and Density Performance.

TVODE Evaluation – SIMPLIFIED

Sub-Metric 1: Component Presence – 3/5

You have Topic (Jonas, indirect characterisation), Verb (reveals, shows), Object (thoughtful, growth), and Detail (careful language, curious about things). Your Effect is there but general ("helps us understand Jonas").

Next step: Use SPECIFIC examples instead of general ones. Don't say "careful language"—say "Jonas searches for the exact right word to describe his feelings about the Ceremony." Specific details help you write better Effects.

Sub-Metric 2: Density Performance – 2/5

You make two observations: Jonas is thoughtful and Jonas is curious. This is good analytical thinking. But the paragraph needs more specific examples to build deeper analysis.

Next step: Add specific moments from the text. Example: "Jonas takes the apple home even though it breaks the rules" gives you something concrete to analyze. Each specific detail lets you make a NEW point. Aim for 3-4 different insights using specific examples.

Sub-Metric 3: Cohesion Performance – 3/5

Grammar strength: Your sentences are clear and easy to follow. Grammar to develop: "Concerns...shows" should be "concerns...show" and "his curious" should be "he's curious."

Solution: Connect ideas with words like "while" and "because": "Jonas uses careful language when describing his feelings, which shows he is thoughtful, while his curiosity about the apple shows he also questions things."
